Chelmsford Angling Association Raise Funds For Southend on sea Lifeboat Station

Chelmsford Angling Association members visited Southend on sea's RNLI lifeboat station on Sunday, to present the volunteer lifeboat crew with a cheque of £1,300 to go towards the boathouse modification appeal. Inspired by the voluntary work of angling club member Ash Hall and his fellow lifeboat crew mates with the RNLI at Southend, they set about raising the large sum of money with a junior match and a 24hr senior match. Nick Snelling, deputy launching authority (pictured right) who received the cheque along with members of the lifeboat crew said "we are extremely grateful to club members who organised, ran and took part in the matches to raise this fantastic amount towards the modification of the pierhead boathouse"
